John Calvin on Heb. 6:4

“the Apostle speaks not here of theft, or perjury, or murder, or drunkenness, or adultery; but he refers to a total defection or falling away from the Gospel, when a sinner offends not God in some one thing, but entirely renounces his grace.”

- John Calvin, Calvin's Commentaries Volume XXII, 136.

“I never think about ‘what if.’ I don’t think ‘what if’ is in God’s vocabulary. So I don’t even think about what I might be doing instead of changing her diaper or what I might be doing instead of spending two hours feeding her. It’s the grace of God, I’m sure.”

Robertson McQuilkin

“I don’t feel like I’ve given anything up. Our life is not the way we plot it or plan it.... All along I’ve just accepted whatever assignment the Lord gave me. This was His assignment.”
